The lay bishop of the South Presbyterian Church held views not consonant or identical with those of Mr. Henry and the majority of his flock. The large donation he had made to the Church in aid of the purchase of their let, and the large subscriptions towards the nest but plain attructure their original place of worship, bought for the donor as he deemed, a right to complain of what it certainly fell short of buying, a paster who would go relvet footed, and with soft phrase over the iniquity of Slavery, and a flock who would not rise up against a pastor so seriously derelict in his daty as to for-

with noft phrase over the iniquity of Silvery, and a flock who would not rise up against a pastor so seriously derelict in his duty as to forber; awakening such disturbing topics. In short the investment disappointed the capitalist, the harvest displeased the great reaper, hence arose difficulties under which the church has labored until now when it cuts the Gordian knot and stands free.

It says to Mr. McCormick "Take that that is thine own," the lot, and we go our way. And more than this. There is not in law, a single question whether the church may not at their own pleasare remove to another site, their place of worstop, a neaf frame structure, Mr. McCocmick having victually and in fact relinquished all claim to his subjectified to the building fund in leaving their connection. But all is relinquished, and the South Prestyrefrank Church in relinquishing what is undoubtedly their own, with an exhibition of spirit and nobleases infinitely creditable, refuses even the smallest titue of aid from a quarter where the tribute demanded in return could not be consistently paid. The opening on Wabash 'Avenue, corner of Congress street, is a good one for any clergyman who chances to be for

A Funeral in Preparation.

Mr. Douotas is peppered and salted. He is laid away in the most approved style of the Pharsons. The Inscription on his catacomb will read: "A celebrated Sq. Posterity will wonder why the victim threw himself in the way of so notorious a bandit, at the same time they reflect on the linburgality of Scott. People will turn to the history of the times and draw a moral in favor of honesty and against the trade of the mountebank. Mr. Doomas' career will be regarded as a lesson for the American youth—as something to be shuuned both for its inherent baseness and the conspicuous fate which it hrought upon that once famous trickster.

For a while after the introduction of the Lecompton bill Mr. Dovoras' re-election seemed to be one of the cretisinties of politics. The Republican newspapers of the State published his speeches and gave place to every waif and circumstance which could throw light on his future intentions. Letters were written to him by persons who had before deemed him the most dangerous man in the Republic—the most fatal enemy of his country that events had brought to the surface since Aanon Bruns feed from the bot breath of a nation's hate—letters urging him to separate himself from the guilt and infamy of slavery and become an agent in restoring a brighter day to the history of free government. Through the length and breadth of the Republican party there was no attempt to repel his approach, no wish to dampen his ard of for the cause of Free Kansas (if perchance he cherished any), no thought to detract from his just credit, no desire to taunt him with his manifest inconsistencies. Every one was amazed that the apologist—nay, the fore-intentions and manifest inconsistencies. Every one was amazed that the apologist—nay, the fore-intentions and manifest inconsistencies. Through the length and breadth of the Republican party there was no attempt to repel his approach, no wish to dampen his ardor for the cause of Free Kansas (if perchance he cherished any), no thought to detract from his just credit, no desire to tannt him with his manifest inconsistencies. Every one was amazed that the apologist—nay, the foremest eulogist—of Border Raffanism, in the three preceding years, could refuse the legitimate fruits of his own toll; the question was silently asked in each mind, "Why can "he not accept the work of the third bogus "Legislature as he did that of the first and "second?"—but nowhere was the query accompanied by a threat, hardly anywhere by an evil wish. Mr. Douglas had earned the most cordial hostility from the Republicans of Illinois that ever fell to tae lot of man. In addition to his red record in Kansas, he had exhausted the vocabulary for phrases vulgar enough to denounce them. One of his choicest expledives was this: "Every Republicans and the control of the design of the levee; the third is about eighty feet wide and on an average of six deep. We will not speculate on the possible con-sequences of his esponsing the side of free-dom; but he has now trified with the princi-ples, the convictions, the honesty of the people, once too often. His funeral is being prepared as surely as Illinois loves her own Freedom; as surely as Illinois loves her own Freedom; as surely as the despises sophistry and applands fair dealing and outspoken truth. Not one man in a thousand but knows "Popular Sovereiguty" is ground to powder by the sallen dictum of Judge Taxxy; not one but hears 'DocgLas land that dictum as an inspired oracle. Basing his claims to an So necessary is a large commercial city at this point that large sums will be expended for the purpose; it is therefore necessary that a right understanding of the matter should be had, so as to retain the full value of the expenditure. In the first place, the Illinois Central Railroad track must be above high water; consequently this of itself would form a levee. Had this been located along the Ohio, through Mound City, thence in a curve to the high land at Villa Ridge, the Ohio would have been shutcut to ally the ed. thence in a curve to the high land at Villa Ridge, the Ohio would have been abut out at only the additional expense of protecting the points where there was danger of the abrasion of its bank, by a thorough facing of stone. So much for the Ohio side. It is well known that the Cache River runs within a short distance of the Mississippi-say half a mile. Cut through this space, which is river bottom, and the outlet of the Cache River on the Ohio side can be closed up. Now, then, commence a levee west of Villa Ridge on the east side of the Caebo, where it leaves the high land, and continue the levee along this stream and with its new bed to the Mississippi, thence down its banks to the present point. The increased cost of this work would be claims upon us, as a friend of humanity, he uses only those arguments which prove him derived over the old system, as not only the s pressure of popular sentiment to keep sublic servants semewhat mindful of people's will—all this was right to be no statesman. The Gold Problem.

The will all his premises make him a mountebank.

Hence we say his funeral is in preparation.

Heretofore his falseboods have been gilled with plausibility. Now each one exposes the other. His re-election on such terms would argue among his constituents the ignorance of the healthful breeze from the north, so long will she stand the sickly thing she has been, without capital, without energy, the aport of high water, dear living and dear labor, a place where manufacturing will not other. His re-election on such terms would argue among his constituents the ignorance of a sans cullots mob.

The Gold Problem.

The universal hunger and thirst of the world for gold seems in a fair way of being satisfied, if anything short of mountains and oceans of the yellow dust can do the business. According to the best Esglish authorities, the yield of the mines for 1857 was altogether beyond precedent, Australia alone having exported an amount equal to one hundred millions of dollars. The production in other countries is estimated as production in other countries is estimated as follows: California, $65,000,000; Rossia and Siberia, $20,000,000; other parts of the world, $15,000,000. Total, $100,000,000. We thus have two hundred millions as the gold crop of 1887.

coming to get that it is better to imitate than to fight Bleeding Kassas. Largedunbers of Ger-mans are pouring into Kassas and Nebraska. A delegation of four men, with their families, are on board the boat sent out from Buffalo to o ave them from the ceruam area of the turbid current below.

A prominent gentle man from Kansas who has traveled all over the Territory, says that Lecompton will be voted down "twenty to one." He thinks their policy will be to remain a Territory for some time to come, build the best kindle of the some time to come, build the best kindle of the some time to come, build and colleger tory for some time to come, build the best kind of State houses, asylums, schools and colleges, and call on Uncle Sam to pay the bills. This, you will agree, is right sensible. A very deep interest is felt in the Illinois election, and the speeches of Douglas and Lincoln are sought for and read with creat width:

(From the Illinois State Journal).

We have already given a short sketch of the speech delivered by W. H. Herndon, Eng., before the Young Men's Republican Club, on last Thursday evening. There was one point, however, made by Mr. Herndon in reference to the Dred Scott decision, which besides being new, is so important that we sak the careful attention of our readers to it. It is a startling riser of the doctrine of the Dred Scott case, which decides that negroes are not "citizens," under the Constitution of the United States.

It is known that under the ruling of the Supreme Gourt in the above ease, personal salits in the United States Courts must be "between citizens" of the United States. The following from the second section of the third article of the Constitution is the provision:

in the action, neither can be be derendant, for he is no more a "citizen" in the one position than in the other.

Let us illustrate. Suppose a negro of Illinois owes a white man of Missouri a thousand dollars, which he refuses to pay, "he white man brings suit in the United States Court against the negro to recover the debt. Upon the trial, in spite of himself, he is thrown out of court and loses his debt, because the suit is not "between citizens." One is a "citizen" but the other is a negro; and according to the Dred Scott decision the courts can give him no remedy. The Judge tells the white man—"Go out of court; you have sued a negro; it is decided that a negro is not a citizen, and the Constitution says all suits must be between citizens. The Constitution is the supreme law of the land and must be obeyed. Go out of court."

Such is an outline of Mr. Herndon's argument, which he elaborated at length and fortified by the strongest authorities. We believe Mr. Herndon's point cannot be controverted; and that the Dred Scott decision, which places a disability upon negroes by agying they are not decided.

Courts, and by making the negro wholly irre-sponsible for bis contracts.

We sak intelligent men to examine this dictum of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, now so boldly endorsed and defended by Mr. Douglas, and ask themselves whither the De-mocracy are tending. Is this government made for white men that they cannot be protected in their rights in their own courts?

The Jena Jubilee---The Alumni in America.

It was mentioned some months ago that the University of Jens would celebrate its three handredth anniversary about the midde of August, that Baron Humboldt and three other octogust, that Baron Humbolds and three other ceto-genarians, graduates of the last century, were to be the honored guests of the University on the occupion, and that the anniversary would be the most interesting and imposing that had ever taken place in Jena. About thirty of the alumni taken place in Jena. About thirty of the alumni in the United States, mainly political refugees, —among them Gustavus Korner and Theodore Olshausen, of Illinois—have signed the following address to the aims maker, composed by one of their number, Dr. Schramm, of New York:

"To the University of Jena, on the occasion of her three hundredth onniversary, from her former students, now in the Free States of America:

A Telegraph Line Across Behring's Straits.

The Atlantic Telegraph having proved a failure, at least for the present, the public mind in both hemispheres is beginning to be directed toward the project of a western tel graph line to Europe via Behring's Straits. A cotemporary say:

It is said that the Emperor of Russia has had the matter under consideration for several years. The whole line from St. Petersburgh through to the Straits would be in his deminions, and would be very nasful to him in reaching the distant portions of his vast eastern empire, which are yearly becoming more important. Of course he will be rewarded. How else could the Administration secure like services hereafter?

The Russians in Manchoria.

[From the Ala Califorrian, Jine 2]

Al'bough we have been accustomed to considiate Manchooria a province of Russus, yet it is only a few years since the first Mancovite settlers fired themselves on the Amoor, and this they have done against the protest of the Chinese. For ten years the Celestial Empire has been in almost helpless condition. The English war in 1844 destroyed much of the moral power of the Tartar dominion, and caused great disorder in the administrative and linancial departments. Before these disorders could be cured, and, undeed, as an effect of them, the great rebellion began in 1849, and after raging for nine years, is still unsubdued. In 1853 the rebels took Nanking, the ancient capital, and the second city in importance in the empire, the centre of the richest portion of the country, and the key to the great ralley of the Yang-tee Klang, the Mississippi of Chisadom. More than half the empire was in the hands of the rebels, and Pakin itself was in imminent danger. About the middle of 1854 the Simperor began to recover his power, and he has since been gradually and uninterruptedly againg ground, though some of the fairest provinces of the State are still held by his enemies. While thus bested by rebels in the heart of his dominions, he has been despoiled by the Russians of his remote territories.

Nearly sweaty years ago the Emperor Nichelas lixed his mind upon having Manchooria. This is a large and valuable country, about 700 miles aquare, lying between 45 deg, of north issinder—that is the postension with little difficulty. Since then they have equivalent to increase their sextlements and strengthen them by fortifications, until they have acquired such a hold that the Chinese will never to able to expel them. They have several fourtishing little towns, and maryigue the river with steamers.

He pronounces the whole affair "a grand humbug," and says that thousands of persons are a Victoria doing nothing. THE WASHING DIDN'T PAY.

Mr. Edward J. McIntire, who was a workman in the Sacramento Iron Works, left this city on the 3d day of May last, for the Fraser river mines, returned on the Cortes, and arrived in Sacramento on the 28th of June, and gives the following informátion:

I handed at Victoria on the 14th of May, and stayed at that place for two days. Myself and eleven others then started in a schooner for Fort Langley, a distance of about 130 miles. It took us seven days to make the voyage. We stayed at Fort Langley one day, and then started in a large whale-boat for Fort Hope, distant about 60 miles, at which place we landed in eleven days, our whale-boat having capsized, and thereby being compelled to procure a cance. We remained at fort Hope one day, and then started for Fort Yale, distant about twenty miles, in a cance, where we arrived in one day, spending twelve bours in prospecting on the way. I then went down to Hill? Bar, which its three miles below Fort Yale, and went to work. The first day we want to mining, we took out $5 to the hand. We continued to wash for a bout nine days at an average of about 39 per days to the hand. The river then commenced ring at the rate of eight inches in twenty-four hours, when we were obliged to quit work. We then started down the river and landed again at Fort Langley, stayed there two days, and went to Fort Gamble, and from thence to Fort Townsend; stopped there wooday, and went to Fort Gamble, and from thence to the pan, and the whole river averaged about that until we got within about three miles above that point we found from 25 to 39 cents to the pan, and fifteen miles above that point we found from 25 to 39 cents to the pan, and the whole river averaged about that until we got within about three miles of first the pan, and the whole river averaged about that until we got within about three miles of first the pan and wonderful rise in the value point we found from 25 to 39 STATIONERS' HAIL, CHICAGO ILLINOIS BLACK, BLUE AND RED

Employment of any kind is not to be had here, and it is all nonselle to think of trading here, as the Hudson's Bay Company claim the exclusive right to trade with the miners, and have sufficient force to drive off any American that would try trading.

I really believe the gold mines a grand numbug. I never was in a country where money was so scarce, and a regards "gold lust" that is all nonsense—you never see a particle.

I have satisfied my mind of but one single thing, and that is, if I was in Sacramento, and knew as much as I do now, a six mule team could not get me away, at least for two months to come, and I do sincerely hope that none of my triends will think of coming here until they know for a certainty that they can do better. Do not think I am discouraged. I am in for it, and mb bound to see it through if any one else does, but I am fully satisfied that we are all sold, to a great extent, and the best evidence of it in the world is, that there is very little gold coming here. I are fifteen ounces yearday sold at $16 per ounce. Another man saw somebody that said he saw a man have seven and a half pounds, which he made in six weeks. Figg says: In conclusion, I would say to miners and traders, if they would be wise and save their money, to hold on a while, for if they come they will get themselves in a very ancomfartable climate, be skinned by the steamship companies out of a few hundred dollars, beside being treated by them as though they were a parcel of dogs, and with but little prospect of doing anything whatever. In a few days I will start for the mines and will test them—to my satisfaction, at least. So far, there is a great humbug about these Frazer River mines.

EL DORADO A FACT.

The most astonading facts have yet to be divulged. A river emptying into the Gulf of Georgia (we have the name), not a bundred miles north of Fraser River, hitherto supposed to contain no gold, has proved fabulously rich. An Indian arrived at Victoria from this locality, having twenty-three pounds weight of pure gold, obtained solely by his own labor in less than twenty days. In confirmation of our figures, and being short of space, we append the following statistics, derived from an official and authentic source of the strictest reliability. We deem the above facts sufficient to cause an exodus of a far more alarming obsraceter, and of higher proportions as to number, than any hitherto known in history. Suffec it to say that the present furore is well founded; that it holds out buny times, high prices, speculations, contracts, and employment of a thousand natures; but it holds out no inducements for politicians. They have to confine their calling to the south side of the straits of Fuca, where the world's eye can detect which government at machinery works most advantageously for man's comfort and happiness—a limited monarchy or a republic.

Fountain's Diggings (Fraser River, at 51 deg. 30 min, north), month of June, 1858.

Five rockers, worked by half-breed Canadians:

June. I arrived here safely last Friday per steamer Panama. Had a most pleasant trip, as you may imagine when you think of the number of passengers crowded together on so small a boat.

This town is rather a pretty little place, of about 100 houses, and some 2,000 inhabitants. The country about here is very beautiful, filled with farms, a great abundance of stock of all kinds. Eggs, butter, dc., are about the same price as with you. The only thing wanted here is houses. We all sleep in tents in the open air. wanted here is houses. We all sleep in tenus in the open air.

As regards gold mines, that is all a humbug. You can get Indians to work for fifty cents per day, and plenty of white men for $15 per month. You may thank your stars that you did not come to this d—country, I shall return by the next stramer. You may expect to see me in about ten daya. If any of your friends think of coming here, tell them they had better stay where they are.

The following extract of a letter is published in The Bee:

Well, here we are, all mixed up together. As for the mines, we have heard no contradictory reports since we arrived. I believe there is gold up there, but it is going to h—I to get it. The long talked of trail is not, and from all I can learn, will not be through this year. This town is full of Sacramento people—some in business, and some walking around—and if that trail does not go through, it will knock the town and them higher than Gilderoy's kite. I have had lots of chances to go into business, but have declined doing so. If miners have to go by the river, the principal place will be somewhere about Victoria; but it is impossible to tell anything about it, as there are some three thousand people here, and each one has a different report. If I were in Sacramentoe I would not be in a hurry to leave. This town looks like Sacramento in '52, after it was burned down—houses building, men hurrying—and their success all depends on this trail. You will see a statement made by a man named Crum, and if that statement is favorable to the trail, you need not believe it, for we have private news from the same source. Billy is here and keeping bar for James Vance. He does not know what he will do, nor myself either, but think we will go up the river. Well, give my love to all the boys, and tell then I am "roughing it." Good-bye, Jim—and let well enough alone.

the steamer and landed at San Francisco. We prospected the river from Fort Langley upat that place we found shout three cents to the pas, and the whole river averaged about that until we got within about three miles of Fort Hope, at which place it paid about 124 cents to the pas, and fitteen miles above that point we found from 25 to 30 cents to the pan. We prospected all the ravines, gulches and banks very thoroughly, and could not find the "color," anywhere except in the bars on the river. The bars are generally very large, but lie low. All the gold discovered so into the fit.

SENEME, W. T., June 21, 1898.

At 4 o'clock this morning, with the sun rising above the hills, I landed at Schome, and followed the Indian trail around the semicircle of the harbor to this place, where I found the great majority of our 1,400 passengers already landed, or crowding into the town equipped in the usual miner style, with blankets, pickr, pans, rockers, etc. While I write, the town and surrounding uplands contains a population of perhaps four thousand souls. To-morrow, at least one thousand souls. To-morrow, at least one thousand of the number will have taken their departure for Frazer River. Some on foot with mules and horses, and very many in boats—an almost countiess number of which, of every conceivable size, shape and capacity, are being fitted out and loaded with provisions for the perilous adventure.

Whateom is just such a town as San Francisco was in '49. The streets are througed with people. Merchants are busy receiving and selling goods; builders are at work erecting tenements on all sides; speculators are staking off lots; miners are discharging and cleaning their firearms; restaurants are doing a smashing business; a few gambling saloons are in operation; a portion of the community are expressing themselves dissatissied, particularly those who started from home without money, and no determinative object in view, but by far the largest class is stirring themselves at something, and express themselves satisfied with the prospect in view. and his officers. On the day of arrival the operations of the Government Land Office at the fort in Victoria, was $25,000. The importance of the amount can best be realized by comparing it with the prices, viz: $100 per lot 60 x 120 feet, unsurveyed. Some of these lots have been sold at $200a1000. Lots if first sale, surveyed price, $50 ; lots, second and last sale, $100 each. Six lots together in the principal street are valued at $10,000. The figures at Esquimalt Harbor and lots in that vicinity assume a bolder character as to value, from the fact that the harbor is a grante bound basin, similar to Victoria, with an entrance now wide and deep enough to admit the Levisthan. Victoria has a bar which must be dredged, dug or blown away. We meted at Victoria that the most valuable for the victoria of logs, belonging to Samuel Price & Co. A ship was unloading lumber at this wharf at $35 per M., which was the ruling price. At Victoria, on the 21st of June, a Frenchman lauded from the steamer Surprise, who came on board at Fort Langley with 25 pounds weight of gold on his person, which ing; that the winters are so cold as to pro-hibit the possibility of working the mines more than four mouths in a year; that at least three months out of the four the river is too high to allow of mining on the bars, which contain the richest deposits, and that mining is prosecuted under circumstances far more disadvantageous than in California. In the meantime, we have no positive assurances that anything like the reported amount of gold has been dug. hardmare & Machinery. THOMAS GEORGE & CO. WILL SELL STOYES AND THE WASE
